SETON HALL SENDS OFF CLASS OF 2012

It was all smiles at the 155th Seton Hall University graduation ceremony yesterday at the Izod Center in East Rutherford (clockwise from top): Newark Archbishop John J. Myers, left, shakes hands with keynote speaker Scott Chesney, a 1992 graduate of the school; Danaia Williams of Newark waves to friends and family; a hopeful graduate puts a job pitch atop a graduation cap; and Ana Martinez of Belleville can't help but share her enthusiasm by throwing kisses from the dias. Degrees were presented to 1,290 baccalaureate candidates.
